

Emerson Gas Transmission Solutions

Compressor Station

Metering Station

City Gate

Emerson is a world-leading provider that offers a complete range of equipment to serve the gas transmission industry. Our products are industry-leading with a high standard of performance as well as extended service life. We are constantly developing products and technologies to better serve customers and to help ensure the constant, safe transmission and measurement of natural gas. Whether your application requires the energy-responsible Fisher® C1 pressure controller or a zero bleed pressure regulator, you can count on our expert staff to help you select the appropriate equipment for your specific requirements.